

AC High Voltage Generation Unit

The high voltage generation unit generates high voltages, which are applied to the precharger and collecting section of an electrostatic precipitator. This unit was developed by Fuji Electric Systems especially for AC electrostatic precipitators. It is located in a high voltage generation panel and supplies high DC negative and high AC voltages to the precharger and collecting section, respectively.

High voltage generation unit

High voltage generation panel with high voltage generation units

